“ We spent a LOT of time at the Sextonville airport in the 60's while I was learning to fly... Hilda and Betty and crew made the visits so enjoyable! They were all so friendly and how they could COOK! Someone mentioned how Hilda would always cover her mouth when laughing, and she had to do that often, because she was always in a good mood, smiling and laughing!! A nice lady for sure...

“ What a fantastic woman and legend! People far and wide came to the airport for Hilda's pies, and I'd say her pies were legendary too. When we'd stay with Papa and Grandma or Dave and Donna, we'd visit with Hilda. Gram taught me how to play euchre, but Hilda taught me how to WIN! Not cheat, of course.... Ha! And I remember how when she would laugh, she'd cover her mouth with her hand. All those things make me smile, and so very grateful to have had her in my life. I'll miss her dearly.

“ I remember stopping at Hilda's several times a week to check on her. Monday nights were milk night when I brought a fresh jar of milk from the farm on the way home. I would stay and visit with Hilda. We exchanged a few good stories and had to share some pop and usually chips. She would send her weekly grocery list and laundry basket. On Sundays I picked her up for Mass and sat with her in the front. People were glad to see her no matter where I took her. She would always know someone. I remember a few good birthday parties we had at her house too. Charlette Bindl made the best homemade pickles and brought some. When my Dad was alive we would visit Hilda at Pine Valley and play the harmonicas for her and just sing. She enjoyed all the company. Hilda will be missed by many.

“ When I was a kid we loved trick - or - treating at Hilda's. We would get lots of goodies- homemade treats, apples, and candy. She would always invite us in so that we could visit for awhile. When I had kids I took them to Hilda's to trick-or-treat also. She enjoyed the kids so much. I will always remember her smile and twinkle in her eyes.

“ My sympathies go out to Hilda's many relatives and friends. I remember Hilda from the days at the Sextonville Airport when she worked with my mother, Juanita Dobbs. Hilda always had a smile for everyone and was a wonderful cook. She loved to tell stories about Duane and Theresia and she thought (and rightfully so) that they were the most wonderful kids. She loved the time that they spent with her and she was so proud of them.

“ Back in a day, after chores were done, neighbors visited neighbors. I can't remember all the stories we heard as kids. But there was always laughter and food enough to go around.
My brother enjoyed the pies she made for him. I know she is in good hands now and the stories are flying.
