“ I dont remember Jean to well, she was always shy to me, she came from a great family, Eva and Frank, they were two of my favorite aunts and uncles, I can remember sitting at the table, drinking tea, one thing I didnt like was that ferret that they tied up in the bathroom,haha, so it wouldnt bother anyone, haha, R.i.P. little Jean, no more pain!!

“ I can remember going to George and Jeanne's house for a visit, and them having this black dog. Jeanne always said, don't run, or the dog will bite you. I never knew if she was really telling the truth, or just making it up, lol...
Jeanne was to me, always seemed to be very quite, but a proper woman, and she always had a very gentle smile on her face. Rest in Peace Jeanne...

“ Memories are very dear to family members. When I think of Jeanne, I remember as kids (and there was alot of us!) standing in front of their house at night and there was a snake on the lawn. Jeanne crept closer to get a good look at it while Uncle Frank left to get a shovel to kill the snake. She stepped back and was standing beside me about the time her dad came with the shovel. Well, apparently he saw her get too close to the snake and after he smacked the snake, he turned around and smacked ME in the head, and said "I told you to stay away from it"! When I told him I wasn't Jeanne, he sheepishly said "well you were too close anyway". I turned to look at Jeanne and she was struggling to keep from laughing. Rest in Peace dear cousin-you will be missed.
