“ My father also served on the USS ABNER READ and saved the life of a fellow sailor by giving his life jacket to the injured, non-swimmer when the ship was hit by a kamikazi and sunk on Nov. 1, 1944, just 6 weeks after I was born. My father is still alive and I'm compiling a lot of information regarding the Abner Read for him. I am very proud of him and all the men who served our country and particularly these brave men who participated in this battle of Leyte Gulf.

“ Last time we saw Jack is when we brought Ethel up to see Ruthie they were sisters. Ruthie had lung cancer and didn't have much time left. It was winter and the roads were very bad. Morris took Ethel up to WI and we agreed to take her back home. So we drove up after Verdale got off from work that night. So we drove in the dark both ways. Sorry to learn of your loss. V&B

“ Jack was a great friend to me and my first husband. His brother in law and sister Ray and Helen, got us together. We played cards. and Burnie and Jack ,just sit and laughed and told stories. Always came around to pick up cans, and even came and picked up a large old fashion tub from our home. He had one hard time doing that....Always a smile on his face... Such a great and loveable man. Haven't seen him in years, but thought of him often. May he rest in peace. and condolences to all the family. In fact two of his great granddaughters are also my granddaughters. :Love you Lexi and Kaili

“ My heart is heavy with sadness over the loss of my good friend Jack. He was a gentleman and a true American hero. He fought a courageous battle with his health, but never let on he was hurting, In the mist of all his physical suffering Jack would turn his concerns to the people close to him, Always wanted to know how YOU were doing. My father passed 3 years ago and Jack stepped in and became that father figure in my life. My world became a lot smaller upon his passing. Last year Jack accepted Jesus into his heart and God set His table for Jack,,,, My friend Jack believed that he wasn't leaving home ... But he was finally going home. I can never thank Jacks Family enough for sharing their father with me and my son. Jack... Rest in peace with your beautiful wife Ruth. We love you and already miss you. God bless you.
