“ Lee,

Your passing is still not real to me ...

I will always remember your kindness, caring attitude and the warmth you spread to one and all around you. You hired me as a student worker but quickly became my friend and family.

I was truly blessed to have you in my life! May you rest in peace!

*With all my love and appreciation,
Sanjay*

“ Lee: Whenever I think of you I smile. I remember going into your office for something, some important bit of information. In the computer age, we just locate the file. Right? Not you. You had 100 yellow posted notes on your monitor and desk. There was no way you were going to be able to answer my question. I was wrong, You knew exactly which note had the information. And you went right to it and pulled it off of your monitor. You had your own filing system that worked better than everyone's!

It took several years for our students to adjust to your absence. You held their hands all the way through graduate school. You were like a loving aunt and there are hundreds of students today who might not recall a professor, but they all remember you. God Bless.

“ Lee, I'll always treasure your friendship. You were a warm, caring person and your good-natured ribbing always made me laugh and put others at ease. It was a true privilege to have you as a close friend and confidant. You'll always be in our hearts. Wishing your family as much peace as possible during this difficult time.
