“ I remember Marcella making dinner for us (cheeseburgers and raw fried potatoes) It was so delicious. She had little, and yet she tried to give us something each time we visited her as missionaries. She had this CAT that sat on the table and ruled the roost. Steve would knock the cat off the table so we could read with her. She loved her daughters and grandchildren and talked about them all the time. It brought joy to her each time they visited. We got used to her saying "yous guys. Her laughter was contagious. We helped her discover her family history and opened up a whole new world. I always wished we could get her to use a computer. When we removed her carpet and discovered her wood floor beneath it, she was delighted. Several young missionaries helped with the scraping and cleaning. I will forever remember and love my friend, Marcella Perry. She always said "We'll see each other again in the next life". You are my real sister and brother, (my husband reminded her of her blood brother.) My sincere sympathy to you, her family and friends.
